Short summary of idea*

Allows users to change the order in which their Badges appear.

Application/Area

Description

A user might have many badges. Some badges might mean more to the user than some other ones, and the user might want to showcase those badges at the top of the list. An example might be a college degree, or a special certificate that they might want right at the top. If the user has many badges people viewing their profile might not have the time to read through all of them.
