Short summary of idea*

Quiz - ability to provide further details based on the correct answer

Application/Area

Quiz

Description

It would be good if when doing a quiz you can stipulate a page that appears after each question (optional as to whether you include it or not).

Regardless of what answer is selected to a specific question, it would be good if the quiz could then take you to an intermediate page before the next question which allows you to explain the correct answer to the participant. Ie.

Q1. What proportion of people with a mental health problem experience stigma?

- a) 10%
- b) 50%
- c) 90%

Regardless of whether the participant got the question right or not, upon clicking their response, the next page, or a box below could appear to indicate the correct answer with then a description:

CORRECT ANSWER: 90%

An overwhelming majority of people with mental health problems report experiencing stigma. Almost 9 in 10 people reported that stigma and discrimination had a negative impact on their personal lives.
