Short summary of idea*

Automatically calculate how much holiday quota a user would get once they are created in the people application would get based on conditions.

Application/Area

Holiday Planner

Description

The functionality of this would be once a new user is created in the people application, the user will automatically be assigned a holiday planner group that has already been created. The holiday quota will then be set based on how many days they are entitled in the contract with the inclusion of removing days based on the date they have joined.
