Event Decline Ability

Application/Area
Events

Description
It would be great if the event's application had the ability for people to decline an event as well as the 'yes I'm going' option.

That way you would know for definite that the people you have invited have considered the invitation. At the moment, there is only the ability to say you're coming, so anyone who doesn't you have to presume they have considered it and made a conscious decision NOT to attend, rather than have forgotten to respond and add the event to their calendar.

It would also avoid the need to send chase emails or system messages to those who hadn't joined the event intentionally receiving the chase ups.

Hopefully that makes sense. Thank you.

Thanks in advance for considering.
