Short summary of idea*

Hide disabled users in profile view's reporting manager

Application/Area

People

Description

Currently, if a person is no longer with the company, and their profile is disabled (not deleted) in the user database, this person's name will still show up in a profile view if they are someone's reporting manager. If you view who used to be their direct report, it will show the person's name in the manager area of the person's profile. It would be best if this is not visible so as to not cause confusion if a person is no longer with the company.
