Description

Hi.

I recently became aware of the limitations of the current version of CK Editor that is being used across the platform. These limitations are a particular concern for us in terms of our ability to apply consistent on brand styling to Text elements on pages and also Policy pages. The workarounds that have been suggestions are just that - workarounds. Using .pdf's or Word documents for Policies makes them less accessible than pages. Expecting users to follow steps or style guides to manually apply formatting in the text editor is unrealistic and will require additional internal resources to reformat contents. This aspect of the system seems to be lagging far behind and in my view should be a priority for the platform.

Thanks
