Desk booking

Application/Area
Room Booking

Description
The majority of our users work from home but do regularly use our network of offices.

In some of the smaller spaces, where there are limited desks - people are having to check with each other, if they are planning to go in/if the desks are being used.

I know there is room booking but it would be good to have a central area where we can list all our offices, with a floor plan so that people can book specific desks. Others can then see and plan their day accordingly.
