Description

Please can the ability be added that when an automated email is issued to all users subscribed to a news channel when a new piece of news is added, that also includes the short summary text from the article?

At the moment, it just says the title in the subject and then "A news article was just published to the xxx news channel"

It would be useful for the recipients to also have the benefit of the short summary text in the body of the email under the bold title to give them a little better clue as to what the news article is about / contains.
