

News Channels and Templates

With the News application, a News application administrator can create different news channels that will help organise your intranet news by categories and allow users to easily find certain article topics.

We will cover the following topics:

- News channel & permissions
- Creating a news channel
- Editing a news channel
- Deleting a news channel
- Creating a news template

The information below is outlined in the video.

To find out more about the admin side of the News application, make sure to read our News: Admin overview.

News channels & permissions

To access the admin panel of the News application and Channels & Template area, you will need to be granted permission as an application administrator.

With the correct permissions, you can do the following:

- Allocate permissions enabling you to direct users to the correct articles.
- Delete channels and re-assign existing articles to a different channel.
- Use the template feature to create a basic template for all articles inside of a channel allowing you to set a structure of how all articles should be created.

For more information on how to assign application administrators, head to our article here.
