There are 3 tabs on the left side of the Admin > Calendar area:

The main content area is divided into three sections: 'Group calendars', 'System calendars', and 'Contact confirmations'. The 'Group calendars' section lists several calendars with a '+ Add new calendar' button. The 'System calendars' section has checkboxes for 'Common holidays', 'Team holidays', and 'Events', along with an 'Update' button. The 'Contact confirmations' section has a checkbox for 'Allow sending confirmation URL by email to external invitees' with a note below it.

Calendars

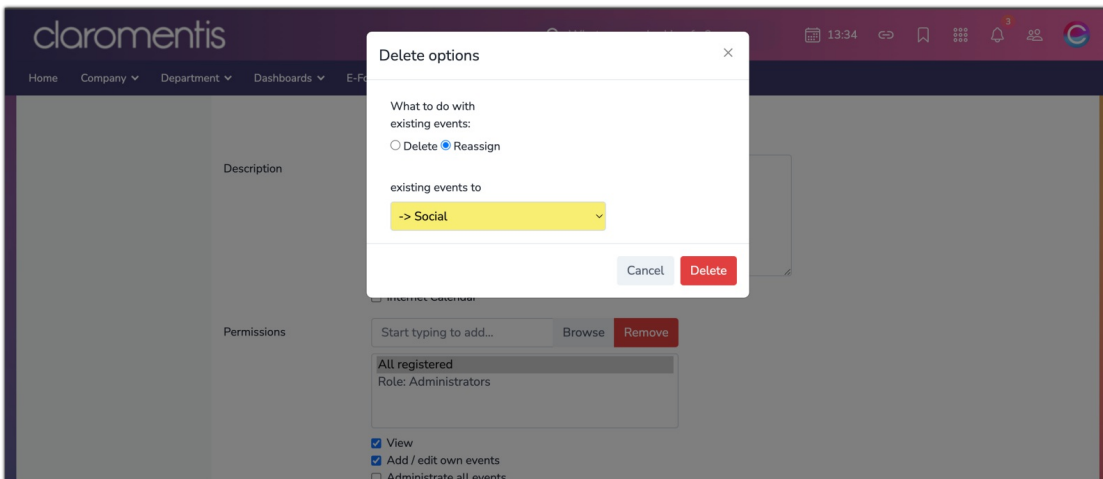

This lists all group calendars that have been created by administrators.

A new Group calendar can be created.

Clicking into each existing calendar allows its configuration options to be edited:

If an administrator chooses to delete a calendar it is possible to either delete all events in it or re-assign these to another calendar:

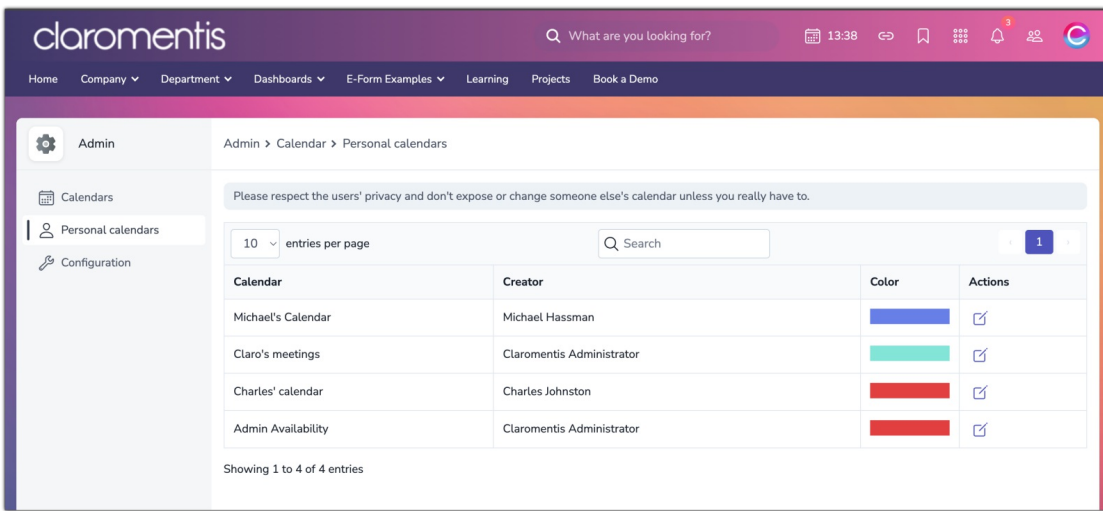

Please note: If events are deleted (and not reassigned) they have been permanently removed and are not retrievable.

Personal calendars

This area lists any Personal calendars that users have created for themselves.

These can be viewed and edited by administrators in case assistance is required:

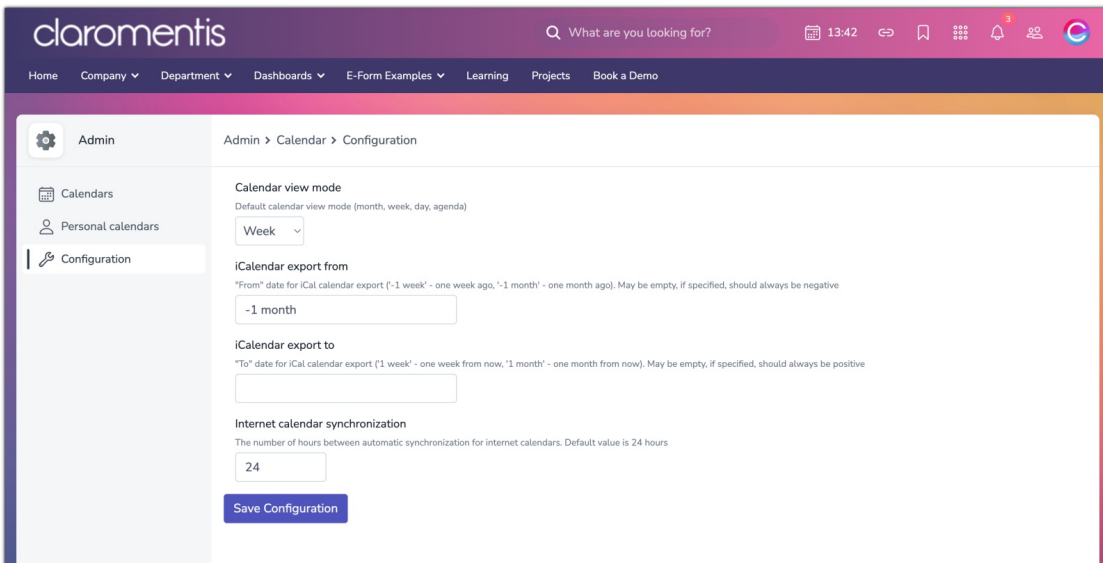

As the message outlines these calendars may contain personal or sensitive information about that individual's schedule and discretion is advised if administrative changes are required.

Administrators can carry out the same actions on personal calendars as they can for group calendars.

If changes are required we recommend contacting the owner of the personal calendar first so they are aware.
