Users can subscribe to blog channels to receive notifications when a new blog post is published or if an existing post has been edited within the associated channel.

The Blog application will list blog posts from all channels if the user is not subscribed to any.

The screenshot shows the 'Blog' application interface. At the top left, the word 'Blog' is displayed. On the top right, there are three icons: a green '+ Add a post' button, a trash can icon, a gear icon, and a close icon. Below this, a post titled 'Claromentis Blog #2' is shown. The post is from the 'Community Channel' and was published on '11 February 2022' by 'Claromentis Administrator' in the 'blog, intranet' category. The post content is a block of Lorem Ipsum text. Below the text, it says '0 comments'. To the right of the post, there is a notification box with a red border that says 'You're not subscribed to any blogs, so all blogs are shown.' Below the notification, there is a search bar with the text 'Search' above it. Below the search bar is a text input field. Below the input field is a dropdown menu labeled 'Subscribed'. Below the dropdown menu is a checkbox labeled 'Include comments'. At the bottom of the search section are two buttons: 'Search' and 'Reset'.

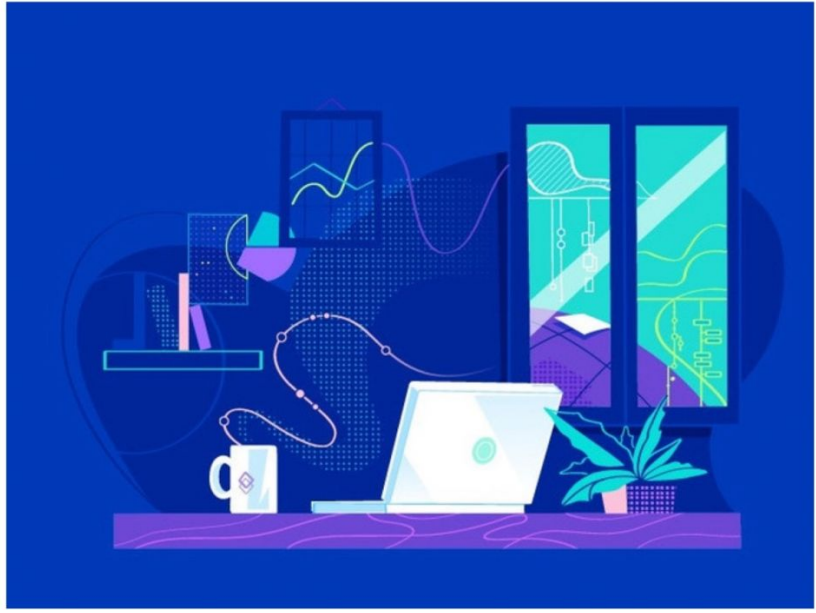

Subscribing to blog channels

By subscribing to a Blog Channel, users will receive notifications when new posts are added to it.

End users can subscribe to a blog channel by selecting the Subscribe icon directly in a post.

Unsubscribing from blog channels

Users can unsubscribe from a blog channel the same way they subscribed, by toggling the 'subscribe' button.

Blog notifications

When a new blog is published (or a previous one edited), notifications will be generated to all subscribers.

The type of notification a user receives will depend on their preferences.
